Our battery immediately opened fire on the steamer, which was returned. After Siring a few shots there was a short cessation, during which Capt. Myers, by command of Major Smith, proceeded to the Grey Cloud, which was heavily freighted and of necessity running slowly, and took from her a quantity of ammunition. The Oregon then proceeded to the island, lowered a yawl, and placing the amunition into it. Major Smith, Capt. Myers and four men rowed to the island. The firing commenced again almost immediately, and continued until 10 o'clock, when the steamer drew off, apparently injured.

Some thirty shell and 32-pound shot were fired by the steamer, and eighteen by our batteries. The men worked like beavers, and fought with a wild delight. Four of the enemy's balls fell successively near one battery, and within a space of thirty feet square. The balls were picked up by our square. The result of this expedition reflects great credit upon the shrewd commandant of this military ditrict, and the brave, active and industrious officers and soldier whom he sent in it.

The conduct of the men is spoken in the highest terms, and an example in the laborious art of stuffing sand bags and throwing up a battery was set them most worthily by Major Smith and the other officers of the expedition, which example they followed with a will.

he used those Bitter Herbs, with unparatied success, in the treatment of internal diseases, and for purifying the blood.

They stimulate and regulate the functions of digestion, impart vigor and tone to the stomach, streethen the system, and are unequalled as a purifier of the blood. By continuing the use of a sine-glass full morning and evening, and before meals, for a few weeks, they will afford convincing proofs for a few weeks, they will afford convincing proofs of their great medicinal propert es, and under the influence of their health-restoring qualities, that physical condition necessary to the enjoyment of a sound body and mind will soon be attained. From their purifying influence the skin becomes steadily smooth and bright, and they will gradually remove every trace of eruption or inflammation from the face or body, as they progress in the perification of the blood.

Viewing them simply as a beverage, they equal in richness and delicacy of flavor the finer grades of choice Champague wines—the bitter principle being only perceptible when felt in the good work of purifying and invigorating.

For the use of old and young of both sexes they

You doubtless had the assistance of experienced med ical skill in confecting so excellent a combination, as it rarely occurs that the bitter principle, possessing so untel medicinal worth, is rendered so palateble.
